

ABSTRACT

A method and computer program product for structuring a credit guarantee contract, comprising identifying a pool of assets, identifying parameters for the assets, identifying a manner of securing a guarantee fee for the credit guarantee contract, 5 issuing a security clearly articulating the parameters of the assets, and resetting the guarantee fee each period based on realized performance of the assets.